

Moelis Appoints Veteran M&A Banker Serge Tismen as a Managing Director
Appointment further strengthens Firm's global Mergers & Acquisitions franchise and adds valuable expertise in traditional and next-generation energy sectors

New York, September 22, 2025 – Moelis & Company (NYSE: MC), a leading global independent investment bank, today announced the appointment of Serge Tismen as a Managing Director. Based in New York, he will join the Firm's global Mergers & Acquisitions group led by Anton Sahazizian and will focus on advising leading corporations and financial sponsors on strategic transactions across energy and other sectors.

Serge brings over 25 years of investment banking experience and has deep expertise in complex domestic and cross-border transactions. He spent more than 20 years at Citi, including over 17 years in Citi's M&A group, where he advised on a broad range of strategic transactions including mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, joint ventures, leveraged buyouts, capital formation, and special committee situations. Most recently, Serge served as Global Head of Clean Energy Transition at Citi, advising clients across the energy and power industries with an emphasis on next-generation energy infrastructure. Serge began his career at Wolfensohn & Company and in the M&A group of Deutsche Bank.

Anton Sahazizian, Managing Director and Global Head of Mergers & Acquisitions at Moelis, commented, "As companies continue to pursue transformative M&A opportunities, bringing in a banker of Serge's caliber strengthens our ability to deliver the highest quality advice to clients. He will be an outstanding addition to our global M&A team."

Stephen Trauber, Chairman and Global Head of Energy and Clean Technology at Moelis, added, "Serge's deep expertise in the energy sector makes him an invaluable resource for our clients. His experience and insights will further enhance our ability to provide best-in-class advice across both traditional and next-generation energy markets."
