

Avnet Named 2017 Preferred Supplier by Flex

Terms:

Flex, the Sketch-to-Scale™ solutions provider, recognized Avnet as a “2017 Preferred Supplier” at its Global Supplier Summit in Silicon Valley. Avnet’s Pete Zimmer, vice president, global and strategic accounts and Tom McCartney, senior vice president, global and strategic accounts were on hand to receive the award from Flex Chief Procurement and Supply Chain Officer Tom Linton.

The annual Preferred Supplier Award recognizes the top one percent of Flex’s more than 14,000 suppliers worldwide for outstanding performance, strategic value-add, excellent service, innovation and collaboration. Suppliers selected for the award were nominated by Flex procurement and supply chain professionals and employees from various business groups throughout the enterprise.

“The past year has been one of tremendous transformation for Avnet,” said Zimmer. “But, this award demonstrates that the one thing that will never change at Avnet is our allegiance to our supply chain partners and our dedication to continuous improvement and advancing the ability of our customers and our customers’ customers to bring groundbreaking new systems and solutions to market.”

Click here (1) to read the Flex press release announcing the 2017 award recipients. View more news from the Supplier Summit on Twitter, at #FlexSupplierSummit (2).

Multimedia

Preview Image:

Language:
English

Show recent blog posts

Source URL: <https://news.avnet.com/blog/avnet-named-2017-preferred-supplier-flex>

Links:

- [1] <https://flex.com/newsroom/press-releases/flex-announces-2017-preferred-supplier-award-recipients>
- [2] <https://twitter.com/hashtag/flexsuppliersummit?src=hash>