

Donaldson Expands Global Distribution Capacity

Investment in Slovakia Demonstrates Commitment to Customer Service and Growth

Donaldson Company, Inc. (NYSE: DCI), a worldwide manufacturer of filtration systems and parts, announces the establishment of a new distribution center in Slovakia to support the Company's Customers across the region.

The new 57,000 square feet (5,300 square meters) facility in Bratislava, Slovakia will support the growing demand for the Company's replacement filters for Customers in Central, East, and South East Europe and Russia. Donaldson will begin shipping out of its new Bratislava distribution center in November.

"This new distribution center represents a significant investment in our future growth plans and our continued success of supporting our global Customers locally," said Tod Carpenter, Donaldson's COO. "We are confident that our Customers will significantly benefit from this investment and our ongoing commitment to providing value-added filtration products."
