Over 52,000 people in the City of San Diego were directly employed by Life Sciences companies in 2020.

Life Sciences in the City of San Diego generated $13 billion in GRP and $22.2 billion in total business sales in 2020.

Average annual earnings exceeded $121,000

Research and Manufacturing represented 54% of Life Sciences direct employment.

- Biotechnology following at about 23% of direct employment.
- Medical Devices and Equipment represented about 11% of direct employment.
- Biopharmaceuticals represented almost 10% of Life Sciences direct employment.
- Scientific Research/Tools make up 2% of direct employment.
- Life Sciences was responsible for almost 78,000 jobs with total earnings of $8.3 billion.
RESEARCH AND MANUFACTURING REPRESENTS LARGEST SHARE OF SAN DIEGO CITY EMPLOYMENT

![Pie chart showing the distribution of employment sectors in San Diego. RESEARCH AND MANUFACTURING represents 54%, followed by BIOTECHNOLOGY (23%), MEDICAL DEVICES AND EQUIPMENT (11%), and others with smaller percentages.]

2020 Annual Economic Impact City of San Diego

- Total Jobs: 77,824
- Labor Income: $8.3 billion
- Total Business Sales: $22.2 billion
- Gross Regional Product: $13.0 billion

2020 Key Metrics City of San Diego

- Establishments: 846
- Unique Companies: 705
- Direct Employment: 52,257
- Average Compensation: $121,521
- Share of Total Employment: 4.6%
- Total NIH Funding: $120,573,065
- Total NSF Funding: $16,911,999
- Government Contract Funding: $6,566,306,523

SOURCE: IMPLAN, FBEI