

Rangers Announce Centennial Season Theme Nights and Initiatives Celebrating 100 Years of Franchise History

2025-09-15

A Full Year of Legacy Celebrations and Theme Nights During Games at Madison Square Garden Will Honor Franchise's Rich Past

Hall of Fame Broadcaster Sam Rosen to Return to MSG to Host Special Theme Nights

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- The New York Rangers announced today a full slate of Centennial season theme nights and initiatives that will celebrate the franchise's 100th anniversary. The year-long campaign will honor the team's historic legacy and deep roots in the community through special theme nights at Madison Square Garden, unique fan experiences, community-driven programs, alumni appearances and more.

"We are looking forward to the celebration of the Rangers Centennial season – one that will be truly unforgettable for our fans and honors the Rangers' storied history," said MSG Sports Executive Chairman and Chief Executive Officer James Dolan. "This is a special opportunity to recognize the great moments, players, and so much more that has brought us all together for a century of Rangers hockey."

As part of the Centennial celebration, the Rangers will host a series of curated theme nights at home games throughout the season that highlight the decades of the team's history, honor legendary players, pay homage to the birth of the franchise in 1926, celebrate the rich history of New York City and engage fans that have supported the Blueshirts throughout its 100 illustrious years. Hall of Fame Broadcaster Sam Rosen will return to The Garden to serve as Master of Ceremonies for the on-ice portion of select theme nights throughout the season.

Theme	Date	Description

2004-present – Modern Era	March 5, 2026	Celebrating a new era of Rangers hockey highlighted by 15 postseason appearances and the creation of new team traditions.

"The Centennial season promises to be a special year for everyone associated with the New York Rangers – the players, front office, staff, and, of course, our loyal and passionate fans," said Rangers President and General Manager Chris Drury. "Wearing the Rangers uniform is an honor and privilege unlike any other in the National Hockey League, and that is because of the legacy that has been created here over 100 years. We all can't wait to be part of this once-in-a-lifetime season."

"As we enter our 100th year, we're proud to honor the generations of fans and communities who have helped shape the organization, dating all the way back to 1926," said MSG Sports Chief Operating Officer Jamaal Lesane. "This season will be about more than just looking back – it's about bringing people together through theme nights that resonate across generations, meaningful community programs, and celebrations that recognize every era of our history in a meaningful and impactful way."

The Centennial season will also feature a robust lineup of special events and initiatives that celebrate the club's legacy both on and off the ice.

This October, an all-new exhibit will open on the main concourse at Madison Square Garden showcasing historic artifacts and memorabilia from the team's storied history, offering fans a unique opportunity to celebrate decades of unforgettable moments from the past 100 years.

In honor of the Centennial year, a special edition content series hosted by Rangers Legend and Hockey Hall-of-Famer Henrik Lundqvist, in collaboration with MSG Networks, will be released throughout the Rangers season. The series will be filmed within MSG Networks State-of-the-Art XR Studio and will feature Rangers' greats that span across a variety of generations.

Additionally, the organization will host an elevated Casino Night for fans that will celebrate the Centennial Season with players from past and present, immersive decor, custom experiences and live entertainment.
