Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Note 1 - Basis of Presentation and New Accounting Pronouncements

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements of nLIGHT, Inc. and our wholly-owned subsidiaries have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP) and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). The unaudited financial information reflects, in the opinion of management, all adjustments necessary for a fair presentation of financial position, results of operations, stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the interim periods presented. The results reported for the interim period presented are not necessarily indicative of results that may be expected for the full year. These consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024.

Critical Accounting Policies

Our critical accounting policies have not materially changed during the six months ended June 30, 2025, from those disclosed in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024.

New Accounting Pronouncements

ASU 2023-09

In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures. This ASU requires enhanced jurisdictional and other disaggregated disclosures for the effective tax rate reconciliation and income taxes paid and is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. This ASU requires additional disclosures and, accordingly, we do not expect the adoption of ASU 2023-09 to have a material effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

ASU 2024-03

In November 2024, the FASB issued ASU 2024-03 related to the disaggregation of certain income statement expenses. The amendments in this update require public entities to disclose incremental information related to purchases of inventory, team member compensation and depreciation, which will provide investors the ability to better understand entity expenses and make their own judgements about entity performance. The amendments in this update are effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2026. We plan to adopt this pronouncement and make the necessary updates to our disclosures for the year ending December 31, 2027, and, aside from these disclosure changes, we do not expect the amendments to have a material effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

Note 2 - Revenue

We recognize revenue upon transferring control of products and services and the amounts recognized reflect the consideration we expect to be entitled to receive in exchange for these products and services. We consider customer purchase orders, which in some cases are governed by master sales agreements, to be the contracts with a customer. As part of our consideration of the contract, we evaluate certain factors, including the customer's ability to pay (or credit risk). For each contract, we consider the promise to transfer products, each of which is distinct, as the identified performance obligations.

We allocate the transaction price to each distinct product based on its relative standalone selling price. Master sales agreements or purchase orders from customers could include a single product or multiple products. Regardless, the contracted price with the customer is agreed to at the individual product level outlined in the customer contract or purchase order. We do not bundle prices; however, we do negotiate with customers on pricing for the same products based on a variety of factors (e.g., level of contractual volume). We have concluded that the prices negotiated with each individual customer are representative of the stand-alone selling price of the product.

We often receive orders with multiple delivery dates that may extend across several reporting periods. We allocate the transaction price of the contract to each delivery based on the product standalone selling price and invoice for each scheduled delivery upon shipment or delivery and recognize revenues for such delivery at that point, when transfer of control has occurred. As scheduled delivery dates are generally within one year, under the optional exemption provided by ASC 606-10-50-14a, revenues allocated to future shipments of partially completed contracts are not disclosed as performance obligations for point in time revenue. Further, we recognize, over time, revenue as per ASC 606-10-55-18 (invoice practical expedient) for our cost plus contracts and, accordingly, elect not to disclose information related to those performance obligations under ASC 606-10-50-14b. As of June 30, 2025, we did not have any performance obligations relating to firm fixed price contracts that did not qualify for the aforementioned disclosure exemptions.

Rights of return generally are not included in customer contracts. Accordingly, product revenue is recognized upon transfer of control at shipment or delivery, as applicable. Rights of return are evaluated as they occur.

Revenues recognized at a point in time consist of sales of semiconductor lasers, fiber amplifiers, fiber lasers and other related products. Revenues recognized over time generally consist of development arrangements that are structured based on our costs incurred. For long-term contracts, we estimate the total expected costs to complete the contract and recognize revenue based on the percentage of costs incurred at period end. Typically, revenue is recognized over time using costs incurred to date relative to total estimated costs at completion to measure progress toward satisfying our performance obligations. Incurred costs represent work performed, which corresponds with, and thereby best depicts, the transfer of control to the customer. Contract costs include labor, materials, subcontractors costs, other direct costs, and indirect costs applicable on government and commercial contracts.

Contract estimates are based on various assumptions to project the outcome of future events that may span several years. These assumptions include labor productivity and availability, the complexity of the work to be performed, the cost and availability of materials, the performance of subcontractors, and the availability and timing of funding from the customer. Billing under these arrangements generally occurs within one month of the costs being incurred or as milestones are reached.

The following tables represent a disaggregation of revenue from contracts with customers for the periods presented (in thousands):

Sales by Timing of Revenue

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Six Months Ended June 30,
	2025	2024	2025	2024
Point in time	$ 40,774	$ 34,636	$ 76,454	$ 63,992

	$ 61,735	$ 50,511	$ 113,403	$ 95,038

Our contract assets and liabilities were as follows (in thousands):

	Balance Sheet Classification	As of
		June 30, 2025	December 31, 2024
Contract assets	Prepaid expenses and other current assets	$ 11,080	$ 14,510
Contract liabilities	Deferred revenues and other long-term liabilities	6,026	6,845

Contract assets generally consist of revenue recognized on an over-time basis where revenue recognition has been met, but the amounts are billed and collected in a subsequent period. In our services contracts, amounts are billed as work progresses in accordance with agreed-upon contractual terms, either at periodic intervals, which is generally monthly, or upon the achievement of contractual milestones. Generally, billing occurs subsequent to revenue recognition, resulting in contract assets recorded in prepaid expenses and other current assets on the Consolidated Balance Sheets. However, we sometimes receive advances or deposits from our customers before revenue is recognized, resulting in contract liabilities recorded in deferred revenues on the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Contract liabilities are not a significant financing component as they are generally utilized to pay for contract costs within a one-year period or are used to ensure the customer meets contractual requirements. These assets and liabilities are reported on the Consolidated Balance Sheets on a contract-by-contract basis at the end of each reporting period. For our product revenue, we generally receive cash payments subsequent to satisfying the performance obligation via delivery of the product, resulting in billed accounts receivable. For our contracts, there are no significant gaps between the receipt of payment and the transfer of the associated goods and services to the customer for material amounts of consideration.

During the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, we recognized revenue of $1.0 million and $2.5 million that was included in the deferred revenues balance at the beginning of the period as the performance obligations under the associated agreements were satisfied.

*Excludes sales to customers who sell our products and services exclusively to the U.S. Government

(1) Represents less than 10% of total revenues.

Financial instruments that potentially expose us to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of receivables from customers. As of June 30, 2025 and December 31, 2024, one customer accounted for a total of 30% and two customers accounted for a total of 24%, respectively, of net customer receivables. No other customers accounted for 10% or more of net customer receivables at either date.

Note 4 - Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of certain of our financial instruments, including cash equivalents, accounts receivable, prepaid expenses and other current assets, accounts payable and accrued liabilities are shown at cost which approximates fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments. The fair value of our term and revolving loans approximates the carrying value due to the variable market rate used to calculate interest payments.

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. Valuation techniques used to measure fair value must maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. The standard describes a fair value hierarchy based on three levels of inputs, of which the first two are considered observable and the last unobservable, that may be used to measure fair value which are the following:

- Level 1 Inputs: Observable inputs, such as quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.
- Level 2 Inputs: Observable inputs, other than Level 1 prices, such as quoted prices in active markets for similar assets and liabilities, quoted prices in markets that are not active, or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities.
- Level 3 Inputs: Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities.

Our financial instruments that are carried at fair value consist of Level 1 assets which include highly liquid investments and bank drafts classified as cash equivalents and marketable securities.

Our fair value hierarchy for our financial instruments was as follows (in thousands):

June 30, 2025
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total
Cash Equivalents:
Money market securities	$ 21,633	$ —	$ —	21,633

	23,181	—	—	23,181
Marketable Securities:
U.S. treasuries	34,888	—	—	34,888
Total	$ 58,069	$ —	$ —	58,069
December 31, 2024
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total
Cash Equivalents:
Money market securities	$ 20,488	$ —	$ —	20,488
Commercial paper	1,773	—	—	1,773
	22,261	—	—	22,261
Marketable Securities:
U.S. treasuries	34,868	—	—	34,868
Total	$ 57,129	$ —	$ —	57,129

Cash Equivalents

The fair value of cash equivalents is determined based on quoted market prices for similar or identical securities.

Marketable Securities

Marketable securities consist primarily of highly liquid investments with original maturities of greater than 90 days when purchased. We classify our marketable securities as available-for-sale, as they represent investments that are available to be sold for current operations, and value them utilizing a market approach that uses observable inputs without applying significant judgment.

Note 5 - Inventory

Inventory is stated at the lower of average cost (principally standard cost, which approximates actual cost on a first-in, first-out basis) and net realizable value. Inventory includes raw materials and components that may be specialized in nature and subject to obsolescence. On a quarterly basis, we review inventory quantities on hand in comparison to our past consumption, recent purchases, and other factors to determine what inventory quantities, if any, may not be sellable. Based on this analysis, we write down the affected inventory value for estimated excess and obsolescence charges. At the point of loss recognition, a new, lower-cost basis for that inventory is established, and subsequent changes in facts and circumstances do not result in the restoration or increase in that newly established cost basis.

Inventory consisted of the following (in thousands):

	As of
	June 30, 2025	December 31, 2024
Raw materials	$ 23,438	$ 19,165

Note 8 - Line of Credit

We have a $40.0 million revolving line of credit (LOC) with Banc of California dated September 24, 2018, which is secured by our assets and matures on September 24, 2027. The LOC agreement contains restrictive and financial covenants and bears an unused credit fee of 0.25% on an annualized basis. The interest rate of 7.0% on the LOC at June 30, 2025 is based on the Prime Rate, minus a margin based on our liquidity levels.

During the three months ended March 31, 2025, we drew $20.0 million under the LOC to support working capital and general corporate purposes. We did not make any draws or repayments during the three months ended June 30, 2025. Interest expense on the LOC was $0.4 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025. As of June 30, 2025, $20.0 million was outstanding on the LOC and we were in compliance with all covenants. The remaining $20.0 million unused portion of the LOC is available for borrowing.

Note 12 - Commitments and Contingencies

Leases

See Note 13.

Legal Matters

From time to time, we may be subject to various legal proceedings and claims in the ordinary course of business. As of June 30, 2025 we believe these matters will not have a material adverse effect on our consolidated financial statements.

Note 13 - Leases

We lease real estate space under non-cancelable operating lease agreements for commercial and industrial space. Facilities-related operating leases have remaining terms of 0.1 to 9.9 years, and some leases include options to extend up to 10 years. Other leases for automobiles, manufacturing and office and computer equipment have remaining lease terms of 0.2 to 3.3 years. These leases are primarily operating leases; financing leases are not material. We did not include any renewal options in our lease terms for calculating the lease liabilities as we are not reasonably certain we will exercise the options at this time. The weighted-average remaining lease term for the lease obligations was 7 years as of June 30, 2025, and the weighted-average discount rate was 4.3%.

The components of lease expense related to operating leases were as follows (in thousands):

Note 14 - Segment Information

We operate in two reportable segments consisting of the Laser Products segment and the Advanced Development segment. We organize our business segments based on the nature of products and services offered.

Laser Products

This segment includes high-power semiconductor lasers and fiber lasers that are typically integrated into laser systems or manufacturing tools built by our customers. This segment also includes fiber amplifiers and beam combination and control systems for use in high-energy laser (HEL) systems in directed energy applications, and laser sensing products used in a wide range of defense applications.

Advanced Development

This segment focuses on research, design, and prototyping of next-generation laser technologies for the defense industry, including the development of custom high-power fiber lasers and advanced beam combining technologies.

Selected Financial Data by Business Segment

Our Chief Executive Officer serves as the chief operating decision maker (CODM) and is responsible for reviewing segment performance and making decisions regarding resource allocation. Our CODM uses metrics such as revenue, gross profit, and gross margin to evaluate each segment's performance by comparing the metrics to historical results and previously forecasted financial information. Our CODM does not evaluate operating segments using asset or liability information. The following table summarizes the operating results by reportable segment for the periods presented (dollars in thousands):

Overview

nLIGHT, Inc., headquartered in Camas, Washington, is a leading provider of high-power lasers for mission critical directed energy, optical sensing, and advanced manufacturing applications.

We operate in two reportable segments consisting of the Laser Products segment and the Advanced Development segment.

Revenues increased to $113.4 million in the six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to $95.0 million in the same period in 2024 due primarily to an increase in both product and development revenue from the Aerospace and Defense end market. We generated a net loss of $11.7 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to a net loss of $25.5 million for the same period in 2024.

Factors Affecting Our Performance

Demand for our Products and Solutions

Our revenue depends largely on market conditions, competitive pressure, and achievement of design wins. We consider a design win to occur when a customer notifies us that it has selected one of our products to be incorporated into a product or system under development by such customer. In the Aerospace and Defense market, our business also depends in large part on continued investment in laser technology by the U.S. government and its allies, and our ability to continue to successfully develop leading technology in this area and commercialize that technology in the future.

Demand for our products also fluctuates based on market cycles, continuously evolving industry supply chains, trade and tariff terms, as well as evolving competitive dynamics in each of our end-markets. Erosion of average selling prices, or ASPs, of established products is typical in our industry, and the ASPs of our products generally decrease as our products mature. We may also negotiate discounted selling prices from time to time with certain customers that purchase higher volumes, or to penetrate new markets or applications.

Technology and New Product Development

We invest heavily in the development of our semiconductor, fiber laser, directed energy, and laser-sensing technologies to provide solutions to our current and future customers. We anticipate that we will continue to invest in research and development to achieve our technology and product roadmap. Our product development is targeted to specific sectors of the market where we believe the performance of our products provides a significant benefit to our customers. We believe our close coordination with our customers regarding their future product requirements enhances the efficiency of our research and development expenditures.

Manufacturing Costs and Gross Margins

Product gross profit, in absolute dollars and gross margin, may fluctuate from period to period based on product sales mix, sales volumes, changes in ASPs, production volumes, the corresponding absorption of manufacturing overhead expenses, the cost of purchased materials, production costs and manufacturing yields. Product sales mix can affect gross profits due to variations in profitability related to product configurations and cost profiles, customer volume pricing, availability of competitive products in various markets, and new product introductions, among other factors. Even though certain of our products are built offshore by contract manufacturers, capacity utilization affects gross margin because of the fixed cost associated with our U.S.-based manufacturing capabilities. Change in sales and production volumes impact absorption of fixed costs, manufacturing efficiencies and production costs.

Our Development gross profit varies with the type and terms of contracts, contract volume, project mix, changes in the estimated cost of projects at completion, and successful execution on projects during the period. Most of our Development contracts have historically been structured as cost plus fixed fee due to the technical complexity of the research and development services, but we also perform work under fixed price contracts where gross margin can change from period to period based on the estimated cost of the project at completion.

Seasonality

Our quarterly revenues can fluctuate with general economic trends, the timing of capital expenditures by our customers, holidays, and general economic trends. In addition, as is typical in our industry, we tend to recognize a larger percentage of our quarterly revenues in the last month of the quarter, which may impact our working capital trends.

Global Economic Conditions

We continue to monitor macroeconomic trends, global inflationary pressures, and uncertainties related to international trade policy, including tariff actions and regulatory shifts. The U.S. government implemented a new series of tariffs on imported goods during the first six months of 2025, prompting retaliatory tariffs by other countries. We currently procure components from China, which are utilized in our U.S. manufacturing operations as well as in products assembled by our contract manufacturer in Thailand.

A portion of our sales are generated from products manufactured outside the United States and we sell our products globally. Changing trade dynamics, including newly imposed or proposed tariffs and export controls, could disrupt our supply chain and increase input costs. These trade policy developments did not have a material impact on our financial results for the first six months of 2025. However, if current trends continue or intensify, we may experience increased cost volatility, operational complexity, and broader economic pressures on our customer base that could have a negative impact on revenue and profitability in the future.

The increases in revenue from the Aerospace and Defense market for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, compared to the same periods in 2024, were driven primarily by increased unit sales of directed energy laser products and progress on existing research and development contracts. The decreases in revenue from the Industrial market for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, compared to the same periods in 2024, were primarily the result of decreased unit sales due to lower customer demand and deteriorating market conditions across all regions. The increases in revenue from the Microfabrication market for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were primarily attributable to an increase in unit sales of semiconductor lasers and the timing of customer shipments.

Revenues by Segment

Our revenues by segment were as follows for the periods presented (dollars in thousands):

	Three Months Ended June 30,				Change
	2025	% of Revenue	2024	% of Revenue	$	%
Laser Products	$ 40,824	66.1 %	$ 34,458	68.2 %	$ 6,366	18.5 %

The increases in Laser Products revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were the result of increased revenue from the Aerospace and Defense market and the Microfabrication market, as discussed above, partially offset by decreases in revenue from the Industrial market. The increases in Advanced Development revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, compared to the same periods in 2024, were driven by progress on existing research and development contracts. All Advanced Development revenue is included in the Aerospace and Defense market.

Revenues by Geographic Region

Our revenues by geographic region were as follows for the periods presented (dollars in thousands):

	Three Months Ended June 30,				Change
	2025	% of Revenue	2024	% of Revenue	$	%
North America	$ 45,171	73.2 %	$ 35,640	70.6 %	$ 9,531	26.7 %

Geographic revenue information is based on the location to which we ship our products. The increases in North America revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024, were due to increased revenue from the Aerospace and Defense market, partially offset by decreased revenue from the Industrial and Microfabrication markets. The decreases in Asia Pacific revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were primarily the result of decreased revenue from the Industrial market, partially offset by increased revenue from the Microfabrication market. The increases in EMEA revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were primarily due to increased revenue from the Microfabrication market and Aerospace and Defense market, partially offset by decreased revenue from the Industrial market.

Cost of Revenues and Gross Margin

Cost of Laser Products revenue consists primarily of manufacturing materials, labor, shipping and handling costs, tariffs and manufacturing-related overhead. We order materials and supplies based on backlog and forecasted demand from our customers. We expense all warranty costs and inventory provisions as cost of revenues.

Cost of Advanced Development revenue consists of materials, labor, subcontracting costs, and an allocation of indirect costs including overhead and general and administrative.

Our gross profit and gross margin were as follows for the periods presented (dollars in thousands):

	Three Months Ended June 30, 2025
	Laser Products	Advanced Development	Corporate and Other	Total
Gross profit	$ 16,317	$ 2,738	$ (598)	$ 18,457

	Laser Products	Advanced Development	Corporate and Other	Total
Gross profit	$ 17,786	$ 2,752	$ (1,200)	$ 19,338
Gross margin	27.9 %	8.8 %	NM*	20.3 %

*NM = not meaningful

The increase in Laser Products gross margin for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were driven primarily by product sales mix and the impact of increased production volumes on fixed manufacturing costs due to the overall increase in sales as previously discussed. The first six months of 2025 also benefited from an increase in duty reclaim and manufacturing yields. The increase in Advanced Development gross margin for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were primarily the result of an increase in revenue from fixed priced contracts that carried higher average gross margins than cost-plus fixed fee contracts.

Operating Expenses

Our operating expenses were as follows for the periods presented (dollars in thousands):

Research and Development

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	$	%
Research and development	$ 11,012	$ 11,736	$ (724)	(6.2)%

	Six Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	Amount	%
Research and development	$ 22,386	$ 22,395	$ (9)	— %

The decreases in research and development expense for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were primarily attributable to decreases in employee compensation due to reductions in headcount, decreases in outside services and decreases in stock-based compensation of $0.3 million and $0.2 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, respectively, partially offset by increases in incentive compensation and project related expenses.

Sales, General and Administrative

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	$	%
Sales, general, and administrative	$ 11,681	$ 12,804	$ (1,123)	(8.8)%

	Six Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	Amount	%
Sales, general, and administrative	$ 23,716	$ 24,351	$ (635)	(2.6)%

The decreases in sales, general and administrative expense for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, compared to the same periods in 2024, were driven by decreases in bad debt expense, increases in bad debt recoveries, and a higher allocation of costs from sales, general and administrative to development projects, partially offset by an increase in incentive compensation. The three and six months ended June 30, 2025 also included a (decrease) increase in stock-based compensation of $(0.2) million and $0.2 million, respectively.

Interest Income

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	$	%
Interest income	$ 1,108	$ 479	$ 629	131.3%
	Six Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	Amount	%
Interest income	$ 2,796	$ 954	$ 1,842	193.1%

The increases in interest income for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, compared to the same periods in 2024, were driven primarily by an increase in income earned from marketable securities and imputed interest on a long-term customer receivable.

Interest income is primarily earned from our marketable securities (U.S. treasuries), recognized using the effective yield method, and cash equivalents (money market securities).

Beginning with the three months ended March 31, 2025, income earned from marketable securities is classified within interest income, net, rather than other income, net. This prospective change in presentation more accurately reflects the nature of the income and has no impact on total net income.

Interest expense

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	$	%
Interest expense	$ (388)	$ (20)	$ (368)	NM*
	Six Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	Amount	%
Interest expense	$ (436)	$ (40)	$ (396)	NM*

*NM = not meaningful

The increases in interest expense for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025, compared to the same periods in 2024, were driven by interest on the outstanding LOC balance.

Interest expense on the line of credit (LOC) was $0.4 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025.

Other Income, net

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	$	%
Other (expense) income, net	$ (58)	$ 622	$ (680)	(109.3)%
	Six Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	Amount	%
Other (expense) income, net	$ (44)	$ 1,263	$ (1,307)	(103.5)%

Other income, net is primarily attributable to changes in net realized and unrealized foreign exchange transactions resulting from currency rate fluctuations. The prospective classification change for income earned from marketable securities referenced above is the primary factor contributing to the year-over-year variance for other income, net from the same period in 2024.

Income Tax Expense

	Three Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	$	%
Income tax expense	$ 17	$ 120	$ (103)	(85.8)%

	Six Months Ended June 30,		Change
	2025	2024	Amount	%
Income tax expense	$ 154	$ 264	$ (110)	41.7 %

We record income tax expense for taxes in our foreign jurisdictions including Finland, Italy, Austria, and South Korea. While our tax expense is largely dependent on the geographic mix of earnings related to our foreign operations, we also record tax expense for uncertain tax positions taken and associated penalties and interest. We consider all available evidence, both positive and negative, in assessing the extent to which a valuation allowance should be applied against our deferred tax assets. Due to the uncertainty with respect to their ultimate realizability, we continue to maintain a full valuation allowance on deferred tax assets in the United States, and a partial valuation allowance in China as of June 30, 2025. Our effective tax rate may vary from period to period based on changes in estimated taxable income or loss by jurisdiction, changes to the valuation allowance, changes to U.S. federal, state or foreign tax laws, future expansion into areas with varying country, state, and local income tax rates and deductibility of certain costs and expenses by jurisdiction.

On July 4, 2025, the One Big Beautiful Bill Act ("the Act") was signed into law. Some of the tax related provisions of the Act affecting corporations include but are not limited to expensing of domestic research expenses, increasing the limit of the deduction of interest expense deduction to thirty percent of EBITDA, and one hundred percent bonus depreciation on eligible property acquired after January 19, 2025. We are evaluating the impact of the Act on our financial condition and results of operations in future periods. Preliminarily, we do not anticipate a material change to our effective income tax rate or net deferred federal income tax assets as we maintain a full valuation allowance for all U.S. deferred tax assets.

The decreases in income tax expense for the three and six months ended June 30, 2025 compared to the same periods in 2024 were driven by expiring statutes of limitations on unrecognized tax positions in the three months ended June 30, 2025.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

We had cash and cash equivalents and restricted cash of $79.1 million and $66.1 million as of June 30, 2025 and December 31, 2024, respectively. In addition, we had marketable securities of $34.9 million and $34.9 million at June 30, 2025 and December 31, 2024, respectively. Our total balance of cash, cash equivalents, restricted cash and marketable securities increased by $13.0 million from December 31, 2024 to June 30, 2025.

For the six months ended June 30, 2025, our principal sources of liquidity included the draw of $20 million on our LOC and cash collected from customers. We believe our existing sources of liquidity will be sufficient to meet our working capital and capital expenditure needs for at least the next 12 months. Our future capital requirements may vary materially from period to period and will depend on many factors, including the timing and extent of spending on research and development efforts, the expansion of sales and marketing activities, the continuing market acceptance of our products and ongoing investments to support the growth of our business. We may in the future enter into arrangements to acquire or invest in complementary businesses, services, technologies and intellectual property rights. From time to time, we may explore additional financing sources which could include equity, equity-linked and debt financing arrangements.

The following table summarizes our cash flows for the periods presented (in thousands):

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2025	2024
Net cash (used in) provided by operating activities	$ (1,405)	$ 7,145
Net cash used in investing activities	(4,383)	(8,943)
Net cash provided by (used in) financing activities	18,486	(1,796)
Effect of exchange rate changes on cash	287	(229)
Net increase in cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash	$ 12,985	$ (3,823)

Net Cash (Used in) Provided by Operating Activities

During the six months ended June 30, 2025, net cash used in operating activities was $1.4 million, which was the result of an $11.7 million net loss and cash used in net working capital of $8.0 million, offset by non-cash expenses totaling $18.3 million related primarily to depreciation, amortization, and stock-based compensation. The cash used in net working capital in the six months ended June 30, 2025 was driven by a $6.9 million increase in inventory, a $8.5 million increase in accounts receivable and a $1.1 million decrease in deferred revenues. These uses of cash were offset by a $3.5 million increase in accounts payable, a $3.1 million increase in accrued and other long-term liabilities, a $1.3 million decrease in prepaid expense and other assets, net and a $0.2 million decrease in lease liabilities.

Net Cash Used in Investing Activities

During the six months ended June 30, 2025, net cash used in investing activities was $4.4 million, which was driven by the net purchase of marketable securities of $0.2 million and net capital expenditures of $4.2 million.

Net Cash Provided by Used in Financing Activities

During the six months ended June 30, 2025, net cash provided by financing activities was $18.5 million, which consisted of a draw of $20.0 million from our LOC and proceeds from stock option exercises and employee stock plan purchases of $1.5 million, partially offset by taxes paid on the net settlement of stock awards of $3.1 million.

Credit Facilities

We have a $40.0 million revolving LOC with Banc of California dated September 24, 2018, which is secured by our assets and matures on September 24, 2027. The LOC agreement contains restrictive and financial covenants, including a minimum total cash covenant, and bears an unused credit fee of 0.25% on an annualized basis. The interest rate of 7.0% on the LOC at June 30, 2025 is based on the Prime Rate, minus a margin based on our liquidity levels.

During the six months ended June 30, 2025, we drew $20.0 million under the LOC to support working capital and general corporate purposes. As of June 30, 2025, $20.0 million was outstanding on the LOC and we were in compliance with all covenants. The remaining $20.0 million unused portion of the LOC is available for borrowing.

Contractual Obligations

Other than the draw of $20.0 million on our LOC, there have been no material changes to our contractual obligations as previously disclosed in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024.

Inflation

We do not believe that inflation had a material effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations during the three and six months ended June 30, 2025. If our costs become subject to significant inflationary pressures, we may not be able to fully offset such higher costs through price increases. Our inability or failure to do so could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

ITEM 3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

For financial market risks related to changes in interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates, reference is made to Item 7A, “Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk,” contained in Part II of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024. Other than with respect to the variable interest rate on our LOC due to our draw of $20.0 million on our LOC with Banc of California, our exposure to market risk has not changed materially since December 31, 2024.

We are subject to interest rate risk in connection with the borrowings under our LOC. We have a $40.0 million revolving credit facility. As of June 30, 2025, we had $20.0 million outstanding under the LOC. Borrowings under the LOC bear interest at a per annum rate, depending on certain liquidity thresholds, ranging from the Prime Rate minus 1.0% to the Prime Rate. A 10% increase or decrease in interest rates would result in approximately a $0.1 million change in our obligations under the loan facility.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Our management, with the participation of our chief executive officer and our chief financial officer, have evaluated our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Exchange Act) as of the end of the period covered by this report. Based on that evaluation, our chief executive officer and our chief financial officer have concluded that, as of such date, our disclosure controls and procedures were, in design and operation, effective.

Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting

There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the three months ended June 30, 2025 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

Limitations on the Effectiveness of Internal Control

Control systems, including ours, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute, assurance that the control systems’ objectives are being met. Further, the design of any control systems must reflect the fact that there are resource constraints, and the benefits of all controls must be considered relative to their costs. Because of the inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues and instances of fraud, if any, within our company have been detected. These inherent limitations include the realities that judgments in decision making can be faulty and that breakdowns can occur because of simple error or mistake. Control systems can also be circumvented by the individual acts of some persons, by collusion of two or more people, or by management override of the controls. The design of any system of controls is based, in part, on certain assumptions about the likelihood of future events, and there can be no assurance that any design will succeed in achieving its stated goals under all potential future conditions. Over time, controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or deterioration in the degree of compliance with policies or procedures. We intend to continue to monitor and upgrade our internal controls as necessary or appropriate for our business, but cannot assure you that such improvements will be sufficient to provide us with effective internal control over financial reporting.

PART II—OTHER INFORMATION

ITEM 1. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

For a description of our material pending legal proceedings, see Note 12 - Commitments and Contingencies to our consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this report.

ITEM 1A. RISK FACTORS

For risk factors related to our business, reference is made to Item 1A, "Risk Factors," contained in Part I of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024. There have been no material changes to the risk factors disclosed in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2024, except as described below.

Our inability to manage risks associated with our international customers, operations and supply chain could materially adversely affect our business.

Our foreign operations and revenues are subject to a number of risks, including the impact of various macroeconomic conditions, unexpected changes in regulatory requirements, certification requirements and environmental and other regulations; reduced protection for intellectual property rights in some countries; potentially adverse tax consequences; political and economic instability; import/export regulations, tariffs and trade barriers; compliance with applicable United States and foreign anti-corruption laws; cultural and management differences; reliance in some jurisdictions on third-party revenues from channel partners; preference for locally produced products; supply chain, shipping, and other logistics complications; and longer accounts receivable collection periods. In particular, the United States has recently enacted new tariffs on a number of countries, including China, and the global economic, political, legal, and regulatory climate is fluid and unpredictable. President Trump has directed various federal agencies to further evaluate key aspects of U.S. trade policy and there has been ongoing discussion and commentary regarding potential significant changes to U.S. trade policies, treaties and tariffs. There continues to exist significant uncertainty about the future relationship between the United States and other countries with respect to such trade policies, treaties and tariffs. These developments, or the perception that any of them could occur, have caused and may continue to cause significant volatility in global financial markets and may have a material adverse effect on global economic conditions and the stability of global financial markets, and may significantly reduce global trade and, in particular, trade between the impacted nations and the United States. With manufacturing in the United States and internationally and with a material portion of our revenue derived from foreign customers, we are susceptible to negative impacts from these tariffs or change in trade policies. In addition, new tariffs and other changes in U.S. trade policy could trigger retaliatory actions by affected countries, and certain foreign governments, including the Chinese government (which has imposed retaliatory tariffs on a range of U.S. goods including certain optical and electronic products and components), may impose trade sanctions on certain U.S. manufactured goods. Any of these factors could depress economic activity and restrict our access to third party services as well as disrupt our supply chain, which could materially adversely impact our business.

While we attempt to negotiate prices with suppliers or diversify our supply chain in response to increased tariffs, such efforts may be costly, may not yield immediate results or may be ineffective in fully mitigating the effects of these tariffs. The result of tariffs may include an increase in our prices to our customers, which could reduce the competitiveness of our products and adversely affect our revenue. In addition, if significant tariffs are sustained over a long period, our ability to source products in a cost-effective manner could be impacted, which may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business could also be impacted by international conflicts, terrorist and military activity, civil unrest and public health crisis, which could cause a slowdown in customer orders, lengthen sales cycles, cause customer order cancellations or negatively impact availability of supplies or limit our ability to produce or timely service our installed base of products. Political, economic and monetary instability and changes in governmental regulations or policies, including trade tariffs and protectionism, could materially adversely affect both our ability to effectively operate our foreign offices and the ability of our foreign suppliers to supply us with required materials or services. Any interruption or delay in the supply of our required components, products, materials or services, or our inability to obtain these components, materials, products or services from alternate sources at acceptable prices and within a reasonable amount of time, could impair our ability to meet scheduled product deliveries to our customers and could cause customers to cancel orders. Our failure to manage the foregoing risks associated with our existing and potential future international business operations could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and growth prospects.

ITEM 5. OTHER INFORMATION

Securities Trading Plans of Directors and Executive Officers

During our last fiscal quarter, the following director and officer, as defined in Rule 16a-1(f), adopted a “Rule 10b5-1 trading arrangement” as defined in Regulation S-K Item 408, as follows:

On June 12, 2025, Scott Keeney, our President and Chief Executive Officer, adopted a Rule 10b5-1 trading arrangement providing for the sale from time to time of an aggregate of up to 430,868 shares of our common stock. The trading arrangement is intended to satisfy the affirmative defense in Rule 10b5-1(c). The duration of the trading arrangement is until August 31, 2026, or earlier if all transactions under the trading arrangement are completed.

During our last fiscal quarter ended June 30, 2025, no other director or officer, as defined in Rule 16a-1(f), adopted or terminated a “Rule 10b5-1 trading arrangement” or a “non-Rule 10b5-1 trading arrangement,” each as defined in Regulation S-K Item 408.

In addition, in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2025, which we filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on May 9, 2025, we inadvertently omitted disclosure regarding the entry into a Rule 10b5-1 trading arrangement by Joseph Corso, our Chief Financial Officer, on March 14, 2025. Mr. Corso's Rule 10b5-1 trading plan provides for the sale from time to time of an aggregate of up to 121,298 shares of our common stock. The trading arrangement is intended to satisfy the affirmative defense in Rule 10b5-1(c). The duration of the trading arrangement is until June 11, 2026, or earlier if all transactions under the trading arrangement are completed.
